American construction consulting firm wins Taj City contract – a luxury development in Egypt

Hill International, Inc. will project manage the construction of Taj City in Egypt. In fact, the luxury residential and commercial development will spread over 3.5 million sqm of land. Not only-but also, Taj City will be a self-sufficient community with luxurious residential units, commercial areas, retail stores, medical facilities and international academic offerings. The renowned Belgian architectural firm, DDS & Partners developed the master plan. They were also responsible for the Maadi Nile Coniche in Cario.

Taj City project is owned by Madinet Nasr for Housing & Development (MNHD), a leading real estate development company in Egypt. The company attracts funding from the public through its listing on the Egyptian stock exchange. In the early years of 1995, MNHD started by developing infrastructures to serve the needs of thousands of middle-income Egyptians. Today, it is expanding its target audience with the Taj City to capitalise on the potential opportunities in the upper end class of the real estate market.

The project is huge, and is attracting a lot of international attention. More so, international material suppliers should register for the Big 5 Construct Egypt to showcase their products. Gambeta News is a partner for the upcoming Big 5 Construct Egypt happening on the 02 – 04th of September.
